Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from History of the Worshipful Company of Fruiterers of the City of London Perhaps a few words are necessary by way of explanation as to the circumstances under which these pages came into existence. Many years ago, when desirous of tracing my ancestors, I chanced to obtain a clue from the Heralds College which led me to make enquiries of Mr. Octavius C. J. Eagleton, then Clerk of the Fruiterers Company, who very kindly gave me some interesting information regarding the early members of this Company. After carefully reading through the books which were placed at my disposal for a few hours, I ascertained that my ancestors had occupied the positions of Renter Warden, Upper Warden, and Master on several occasions during the eighteenth century, and this fact alone was sufficient to awaken in me a deep interest in the Fruiterers Company. It was not, however, until nearly twenty years later, when my friend, Dr. A. W. Orwin, was Master of the Company, that the idea of writing a short history of the Company occurred to me. With this object in view I talked the matter over with Dr. Orwin, who readily consented to bring my suggestions before the Court. In due course the necessary permission was granted, and the whole of the books in the possession of the Fruiterers Company were generously handed over to me on condition that they were kept in a fireproof safe. May I here add, to relieve the mind of any anxious Fruiterer, that everything has now been safely returned to the Clerk of the Company. I must confess that had I realized the difficulty of writing such a history,...
